WHAT IS THE AMC CLINICAL EXAM ?

This exam is conducted at the AMC Clinical Testing Centre in Melbourne and serves as the final step for registering as a medical practitioner with the AMC.

ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

- ✓ The candidate must have passed the AMC MCQ exam with a minimum score of 250.
- ✓ The candidate must meet the required score in an English proficiency test.

KEY FEATURES OF THE AMC CLINICAL (AMC 2) EXAM

ALTERNATIVES TO THE AMC CLINICAL: PESCI

PESCI (Pre-Employment Structured Clinical Interview) is an alternative pathway that allows doctors to register for a GP or specialist medical role in Australia. To be eligible, candidates must have relevant clinical experience in their medical field. During the PESCI, candidates are assessed through clinical scenarios and case-based questions to evaluate their medical competence and ability to adapt to Australian healthcare standards.

HERE ARE THE STEPS TO TAKE PESCI:-

WBA

The Workplace-Based Assessment (WBA) offers another route to medical registration in Australia, ideal for doctors who haven't completed a traditional residency program. Unlike the AMC Clinical exam, WBA is not a single exam—it involves continuous assessment over several months. While this makes the process longer but more manageable, candidates benefit from a paid internship lasting 6 months to 1.5 years during the assessment period.

TO GET A WBA, YOU NEED TO FOLLOW THESE STEPS:-

- 1 Get an internship as a Junior Medical Officer (JMO) in a recognised Australian WBA provider.
- 2 Work under expert supervision for 6 to 12 months, attending patients and undergoing regular assessments.
- 3 Receive feedback mentorship and gradually adapt your skills to meet Australian medical standards.
- 4 Once your supervisors give a positive review, you'll be eligible for full registration with AMC & AHPRA.
